2018 Harvest Program

Frontier Coop is offering a Delayed Pricing (DP) contract for corn and soybeans during the 2018 Harvest.

There is a minimum DP charge for bushels that are put on a Delayed Price contract.

Corn minimum is 13¢ for 90 days, from the average date of delivery

Soybean minimum is 17¢ for 90 days, from the average date of delivery

DP bushels go from the flat fee, to a daily fee beginning on the 91st day after delivery

Daily fee for Corn on DP beginning on the 91st day is $.00145/bu/day

Daily fee for Soybeans on DP beginning on the 91st day is $.00183/bu/day

Any corn on a DP contract will be shrunk/dried to 15% moisture.

DP bushels may be priced at the posted, spot, cash bid, during normal trading hours. The final pricing date for DP contracts will be September 13, 2019. Remaining, unpriced DP bushels will be priced at 1:10pm on 09/13/19. Frontier is not responsible for notification regarding unpriced bushels.

Open Storage is available for corn, and soybeans. Storage is subject to limitation.

As with DP, there is a 90-day minimum fee of 13¢ for corn, and 17¢ for soybeans. Bushels are then charged a per bushel, per day, fee beginning on the 91st day of storage.

Daily storage rate for Corn beginning on the 91st day is $.00165/bushel/day

Daily storage rate for Soybeans beginning on the 91st day is $.00192/bushel/day

Any corn in Open Storage is shrunk/dried to 14% moisture.

To ensure accuracy, specify at delivery if the bushels are for Open Storage, DP, or Contract.

Forward contracted bushels, or bushels sold within 10 days of delivery, have are no minimum fees.

Frontier Cooperative does not have DUMP CHARGES.

Contracts that are written for delivery in deferred positions must be delivered during the delivery period it is sold for. These contracts, as well as basis contracts may not be used to price bushels on DP, or Open Storage.

Frontier Cooperative also offers Minimum Price contracts, and additional marketing solutions that can be custom fit to any producer's needs. Contact your local branch, or Marketing Consultant for more details.
